

Honoured and Remembered

Row upon row of poppies an endless sea of red

Bringing back memories for the living and memorializing the dead

Brave men and women who fought side by side unselfishly

In the name of freedom and peace, for their country

Now they stand shoulder to shoulder lost in their thoughts of that day

Medals shining under the bright sun, some shed a tear as the bugler plays

In silence, we honour those who serve and especially our vets

Proud of our country, proud of our heroes and proudly we'll never forget
