

My Eyes

In my eyes she always stood so big and so tall

For every question she had an answer and no request was too big or small

She encouraged me to grow and she listened to all my fears

She sat with me when I was sick and she always had bandages or Kleenexes for my tears

She sang to me and with me many a time we laughed and loved each other

She was my mentor, my best friend and most of all she was my mother

My eyes saw the angel she was and would always be

As long as the flowers bloom and the sun shines in the sky over me
